Youth Apprenticeship

Student Learning Deck

Three ideas to use now

- Know this

- Pre-apprenticeship can prepare a student for Registered Apprenticeship without guaranteeing entry.
- A Registered Apprenticeship is employment; students apply through an employer or sponsor.
- Work hours, school schedules, transportation, safety rules, and age limits must be verified before a student commits.

What to know. What to verify.

Start here

- Youth apprenticeship connects school, paid work, and structured training, but the exact route depends on the employer, program, age rules, and current openings.
- Pre-apprenticeship can prepare a student for Registered Apprenticeship without guaranteeing entry.

Verify before acting

- Do not promise an opening, placement, wage, credit, or future registration status.
- Do not treat a sponsor listing as an active job posting.

Build your action plan

● Next moves

- Name the occupation and the area where you can work.
- Ask your school about CTE, work-based learning, and approved pre-apprenticeship options.
- Use official Delaware apprenticeship sources to identify sponsors and current opportunities.
- Confirm eligibility, schedule, pay, transportation, and application steps with the employer or sponsor.
