Subject: Launch Into Your Future: take the next step on Application Types and Platforms

Audience: Students and families

Message

Dear students and families,

This month, Launch Into Your Future is highlighting Application Types and Platforms. Early Decision is binding; Early Action is generally nonbinding.

A strong plan starts with a clear next action and information from the organization that owns the decision. Students can begin by:

- Identify the institution and intended program.
- Verify the accepted application platform.
- Compare available application plans.

Before making a commitment, confirm current dates, eligibility, costs, required documents, and availability with the school, college, employer, agency, or program involved.

For help choosing a next step or reviewing information, contact [school counseling or student services contact] by [date or meeting window].

With support,

[School counseling or student services team]

School customization fields

- School contact name and role
- Local meeting date or response window
- School-approved local link or appointment process
