

Launch Into Your Future

Delaware Volunteer Credit

Student Learning Deck

Three ideas to use now

- Know this

- Volunteer Delaware is the official starting point for current student and counselor instructions.
- The school or district confirms participation and controls its local approval and transcript workflow.
- Service eligibility, documentation, timing, and credit posting must be verified under current state and local rules.

What to know. What to verify.

Start here

- Delaware's volunteer-credit process requires students and counselors to confirm local participation.
- Volunteer Delaware is the official starting point for current student and counselor instructions.

Verify before acting

- Do not promise that every activity or documentation method qualifies.
- Do not promise credit amount, posting date, or acceptance until current state and local rules are verified.

Build your action plan

● Next moves

- Ask the school counselor whether the school participates and what local approval is required.
- Read the current Volunteer Delaware student instructions before beginning service.
- Confirm that the organization, activity, schedule, and documentation method qualify.
- Complete service outside the regular school day and record each shift as instructed.

Use it now

Exit ticket

Write the next action you will take about Delaware Volunteer Credit. Name the official person or office that can verify your information, and choose a follow-up date.

